City lake home to mysterious rings

By Jon Thompson

A Lakehead University anthropology professor is trying to settle the mystery behind the rocks at the bottom of Boulevard Lake.

Scott Hamilton led a drone photography mission over what he called "The Ring" when the lake was drained last September, producing the best-ever overhead view of the stone formation.

It shows a human-made 'C' shape that measures 24 metres in diameter, formed from stones as large as 70 centimetres across.

Caught off guard

"You can imagine, we were kind of surprised and we were pretty excited, then increasingly confused, trying to figure out 'what is it' and how in the world we would ever come up with an answer," he said.

"I think people have known about it for some time and I think it has been part of the oral history of greater Thunder Bay that there's something hinky under the waters at Boulevard Lake."

That lack of answers is not without speculation. Urban legend mythologizes it as some sort of late-night prank but Hamilton believes the effort needed to construct it would have far-exceeded the reward.

Some have suggested The Ring may be a fish trap built before the 1907 dam. He doubts that because it's perched on the highest terrace edge above where the riverbank would have been.

Considering it might be a ceremonial or gathering place near the spawning bed above the waterfall, Hamilton is considering it may have been built prior to European contact.

"One approach might be trying to get a radiocarbon date from some of the organic materials that underlie the rock," he said.

"If it's very old, that would certainly help. If it's sometime in the last 200 or 300 years, that won't help very much. Given my interpretation that it predates the dam, it's probably some time before the settlement of Prince Arthur's landing really became developed. That would certainly suggest it's of indigenous origin."

Hamilton's first step is reaching out to the public for clues.

Looking for answers

"Right now, we're just trying to collect ideas and memories about how long people remember it, what they think it might be, what stories they've heard from their elders about who built it and when."

Hamilton can be reached at shamilton@lakeheadu.ca or by calling the switchboard at Lakehead University.

A poster of his topography will be featured at Intercity Shopping Centre on Mar. 5 for Research and Innovation Week.

Magnus THEATRE

The Professional Theatre of Northwestern Ontario

Outgoing Artistic Director Mario Crudo

What an incredible journey! It has been such an honour for the past 25 years, to be responsible for the artistic leadership of Magnus Theatre, a key cultural organization in the region. I am proud of our artistic work and what we have accomplished as a team, presenting diverse programming for all age groups and thereby contributing to the quality of life in our community and the region.

It has been my great privilege to work with exceptionally dedicated and talented theatre artists and technicians over the years, as well as creative and dedicated administrative staff. I am exceedingly grateful for all of the long hours and hard work that our staff, our Board Members, and our many volunteers have put in to contribute to the growth of Magnus, from the time it was a small theatre company in the east end on McLaughlin Street, to the jewel in Waverley Park that Magnus has become today.

I am also very grateful for the support offered to Magnus over the years by our funding partners the Canada Council for the Arts, the Ontario Arts Council, the City of Thunder Bay, and community supporters such as our season sponsors, small business partners, and individual and corporate donors. Thank you to all! And last, but certainly not least, I am grateful for the support of you, our audience, and wish to extend my personal heartfelt thanks to you, our theatre patrons, who really are the mainstay of Magnus Theatre. Without you, creating theatre would become a pointless exercise. Thank you for your support over the years!

Thom Currie is the new Artistic Director for Magnus Theatre. With the abundance of 'good will' that Magnus Theatre enjoys in the community I am convinced that under Thom's artistic leadership the company will grow and continue to be a strong cultural force in the region.

I hope you will enjoy the 2016 – 2017 Season (for which I will take responsibility in programming). With this season's theme "It's for EVERYONE!" we have tried to encapsulate the feeling of being inclusive of our diverse community. I know that Thom very much liked the theme; I am sure his programming for the 2017/2018 season will continue to reach out and engage our diverse audiences.

Thank you all once again! I trust your support will never wane for Magnus Theatre...

"It's for EVERYONE!"

New Artistic Director Thom Currie

Theatre is a wonderful thing.

This is something I discovered at an early age. I remember when I was about six years old, sitting in a high school auditorium, enraptured by a student production, dazzled by the lights, the costumes, the sets and the performances. Most of all, I was enchanted by the storytelling. I can't say whether or not that was the moment I decided that theatre should always be a part of my life, but it was certainly a defining moment.

My name is Thom, and I am thrilled to have been invited to join the Magnus Theatre team. I have lived and worked in many different places in Canada and abroad, and I look forward to bringing stories from around the world to my new home in Thunder Bay, and sharing Thunder Bay's stories with the world. Magnus is a nationally respected institution, well known for creating and producing the best theatre in Northwestern Ontario. The plays that have been produced here over the past 45 years have changed the landscape of the Canadian Theatre scene, and I look forward to continuing this legacy of great theatre for a great city.

I believe that a theatre's season should always be varied, ensuring that audiences have a different experience every time they come. This season at Magnus, we have a wonderful program of plays, designed specifically to thrill and entertain Thunder Bay audiences, with classic and contemporary stories that will touch every heart and give you an experience to remember for ages.

Please join us for our 2016-17 Season at Magnus Theatre. "It's for EVERYONE!"

See you at the theatre.

BY FLOYD MURTHA & COLIN ESCOTT
Inspired by the electrifying true story

Runs Sept. 12 - Sept. 24

Based on a legendary night on December 4, 1956 when rock 'n' roll icons Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins and Johnny Cash participated in a star-studded jam session at Sun Records in Memphis, Tennessee. This smash-hit musical inspired by that famed recording session features a score of hits including "Blue Suede Shoes," "Great Balls of Fire," "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On," "Hound Dog," "Who Do You Love?," and more.

Runs Dec. 5 - Dec. 17

Greg Banks' play adaptation of the Rudyard Kipling stories has a great sense of adventure and playfulness. In this coming of age story, Mowgli, a child called a "man cub" by the creatures of the forest, is raised by wolves and by Baloo the sloth bear and Bagheera the black panther.

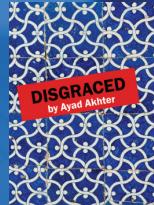

They protect this human innocent as best they can from Shere Khan, the hungry tiger who wants to eat him. But when some monkeys trick Mowgli and imprison him, vultures carry the news to his would-be rescuers, including the hypnotizing python Kaa.

Runs March 6 - March 18

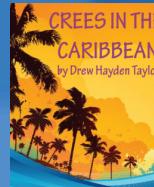

Of Human Bondage is a grand story of lust, unrequited love, and the pursuit of beauty. When Philip meets Mildred, a disarming tea-shop waitress, he finds his yearning for art and experience consumed by his intense attraction to her. Mildred, for all her teasing, isn't all that interested in Philip. Yet Philip, in a powerful haze of passion and pride, obsessively pursues Mildred despite the anguish and emotional carnage that repels and binds them at all costs.

Runs Oct. 31 - Nov. 12
The play, a Pulitzer Prize winning drama , considers questions of identity and religion in the contemporary world. A successful Pakistani American lawyer, enjoys a comfortable life with his white American wife. He is happy, in love, and about to land the biggest career promotion of his life. But when his Muslim heritage is questioned by a white Jewish friend and his African American wife, his life begins to unravel; A celebratory dinner with friends leads to a fiery debate on prejudice, identity and faith.

Runs Jan. 30 - Feb. 11

The play is a heart warming comedy of two middle-aged First Nations seniors, Evie and Cecil, on their very first trip out of the country. The couple's children have sent them on a second honeymoon to celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary. Evie and Cecil reminisce and bicker as they discuss their past experiences, tourism and old age. They form a bond with Manuela, the courteous housekeeper at their hotel, and help her navigate some of the troublesome situations she finds herself in.

Runs April 10 - April 22

Here On The Flightpath is an insightful comedy of male-female relationships. John, who is divorced from his wife, is a long-time resident of the Canadian Aurora Terrace Apartments, which are a mile from downtown and on the flight path of a busy airport.

The man's social life is built around his buddies and the ever changing tenants, particularly the three attractive, unattached women, who move into the apartment with the terrace adjoining his.

If you're looking for Fine Dining, than you have lots to choose from in Thunder Bay!

Fine Dining Pt.1 by The Dining Lady & Scott Paradis

Runway 25

Silver Birch

Bistro One - If you are looking for a place that is classy, quiet, sophisticated with impeccable food that never fails, then look no further.

The menu offers a fabulous selection of appetizers to help you start your night out right. If seafood is your pleasure, you can't go wrong with the Sea Scallops in Maple and Champagne Sauce or the Tempura Battered Shrimp.

Caribou - This is another great example of fine dining in our city. Chef Craig Veira creates new dishes often that the menu changes regularly.

Caribou also opens for lunch every Thursday and Friday. If you love a great burger, I highly recommend the burger from their lunch menu.

The Caribou has been listed in "Where to Eat in Canada" for several years running and the wine list has earned the "Wine Spectator Award of Excellence" every year since 2002.

...But what exactly is truly fine dining?

Years ago, fine dining was classified as any restaurant that featured waiters that served customers at their own tables. Boy have we come a long way since then. Today the definition of fine dining is a little more specific, and in a smaller city like Thunder Bay, it is far more complex.

Silver Birch - This is one of Thunder Bay's newest fine dining establishments. It features uniquely northern cuisine, specializing in regional foods such as fish and Rabbit.

No matter what you are looking for, Silver Birch has something for everyone. Their desserts are phenomenal as well.

Runway25

This fine dining restaurant has actually swapped out locations with Timbers.

Located at the Valhalla Inn, Runway 25 resembles the inside of an airplane, with many aeronautical equipment, tables suspended from cables, and the washrooms resembling an airplane washroom, but of course it's much larger and more comfortable than a standard airplane bathroom.

Bistro One

Where food and wines are our passion. Modern North American cooking in an upbeat setting. Chef/Owner Jean Robillard and his talented staff prepare seasonal dishes for their daily changing menu. Start your evening with Rare Seared Tuna with Ponzu and Pickled Vegetables or our signature Seared Sea Scallops with a Champagne and Maple Syrup Sauce. Move on to our famed Rack of Lamb with Gorgonzola Butter or the light and full flavoured Arctic Char. Always leave room for one of Maria's fabulous dessert creations. Whether its her renowned Warm Chocolate Gateau or a simple Crème Brulee, their housemade desserts are always thrilling. "Where to Eat in Canada" top 200 restaurants 10 years in a row. Award winning wine list from "Wine Spectator" Magazine for 12 consecutive years. Where would you rather go? The park is dominated by a single, spectacular feature, Kakabeka Falls, which drops 40 metres over sheer cliffs. Below the falls is a dramatic gorge carved out of the Precambrian Shield by the meltwater from the last glaciers. The ancient, volcanic rock over which the water tumbles holds many secrets. From beneath its layers, 1.6-billion-year-old fossils have been unearthed. Since 1904, the river has been tapped to produce a steady flow of hydroelectric power. MT. MCKAY SCENIC LOOKOUT

Visit Mount McKay Scenic Lookout and explore the age old Indian legends and traditions of our area. Towering 1,000 feet over the city, Mount McKay is a must on your list of attractions. At the 500 ft. level the lookout offers a magnificent panorama with a viewing scope for a closer look and new skyline walkway with a great picnic area snack bar.

Thunder Mountain was the original name for Mount McKay. Here, traditional native gatherings were held on this sacred ground. Prior to the development of road access to the lookout only traditional native people were allowed access to the grounds, which is considered a nesting area for the Anemki or Thunderbird. A large white cross has been placed on a mountain ledge to commemorate Indian people who have served our country in time of war.

TRAVEL - AUTOMOBILE

DRIVER'S LICENCE - A valid licence from any country is valid in Ontario for 3 months.
SEAT BELTS - The law in Ontario requires the driver and passengers to wear seat belts if the vehicle is equipped with them.

SPEED LIMITS - On highways and expressways, 90 km/h (55 mph) or as posted; in urban and built up areas it's usually 50 km/h (30 mph).

METRIC CONVERSION - All mileage and speed limit signs in Ontario are in metric (kilometres). The kilometre is equal to five eighths (5/8) of a mile. To convert miles to kilometres simply multiply the miles by 1.6, eg. 100 miles equals $100 \times 1.6 = 160$ km. Conversely, to convert kilometres to miles, multiply the number of kilometres by .6, eg. 100 km equals $100 \times .6 = 60$ miles.

AUTO CLUBS - The Ontario Motor League is affiliated with the AAA. The membership card from your local AAA branch entitles you to all the benefits of the OML.

ACCIDENTS - If you are involved in an accident resulting in a personal injury or property damage over $1,000 you must notify the police and remain at the scene of the accident until cleared by investigating officers.
